SLU Conducts Community Outreach Programs

SLU CONDUCTS CAPACITY-BUILDING PROGRAM FOR SAN QUINTIN CHILD DEVELOPMENT WORKERS

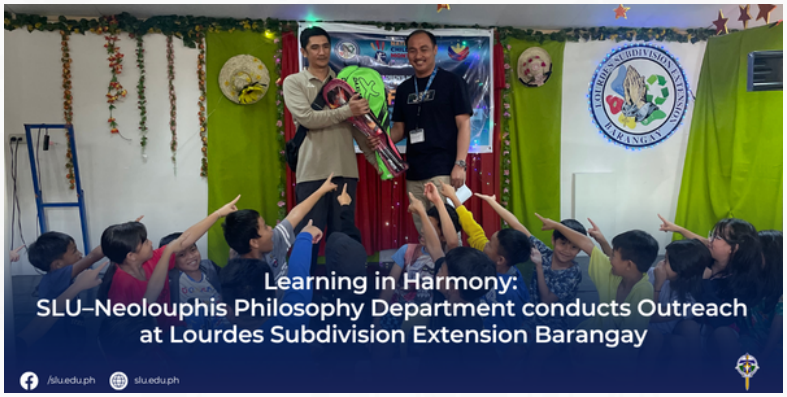

Saint Louis University, in partnership with the LGU of San Quintin, Pangasinan, conducted a capacity-building program for Child Development Workers (CDWs) at the National Child Development Center, directly aligning with SDG 4.3.4 by expanding access to tertiary-level training opportunities beyond enrolled students. Facilitated by SLU graduate students from the ECED 218 course, the initiative bridged academic theory with grassroots practice, equipping day care educators with advanced pedagogical tools and reinforcing the university's commitment to inclusive, lifelong learning and professional development.

SLU Engages in Community Outreach Program in Lourdes Subdivision Extension Barangay

Saint Louis University, through the New Louisian Philosophical Society (NEOLOUPHIS) of the Department of Philosophy, School of Teacher Education and Liberal Arts (STELA), serves as the primary implementer of community outreach initiatives that extend tertiary-level learning opportunities beyond enrolled students. Through its flagship program “Project Dunong,” NEOLOUPHIS conducts educational lectures for children across various barangays, advancing inclusive and impartial access to higher education activities.

By fostering communities that encourage learning and promoting lifelong educational opportunities, the organization contributes to the empowerment of youth and the enrichment of their intellectual growth, directly supporting the indicators of SDG 4.3.4.

SLU Cultivates Minds and Empowers the Future in Benguet Outreach

Through the Office of the Internal Auditor (OIA), Saint Louis University (SLU) once again brought the spirit of service to life through its flagship outreach initiative, the Bright Start Program, with the theme: Cultivating Minds, Empowering the Future. The recipients for the academic year 2025-2026 are students, parents, and teachers of the Datakan Integrated School in Kapangan, Benguet.

Responding to the school's needs, the university conducted various activities for the school community. The first wave of activities rolled out on 22 July 2025, where university auditors distributed basic school supplies to sixteen selected learners from Kinder to Grade 12.

On 17 July 2025 and 18 September 2025, the program arranged the donation of library materials, including textbooks, manuals, and bookshelves, to enrich the school's learning resources.

On 18 October 2025, two significant sessions addressed equally important concerns—mental health and personal safety. A learning session on "Empowering parents and teachers through mental health " and "Teachers and Parents as first responders" was facilitated for parents and teachers. On the other hand, lectures on "How to be Safe and Smart" and "Rights and Responsibilities of Children" were provided to learners in grades 7 to 12, with separate groups for girls and boys.

Through the Bright Start Program, SLU extends its service beyond campus, equipping learners, parents, and teachers of Datakan Integrated School with resources and knowledge for a brighter future, in line with SDG 4: Quality Education.
